

The Black Diamond Football League (BDAFL) is situated on the east coast of Australia in the state of New South Wales. It is north of Sydney and covers an area of more than 150 lineal kilometres from Terrigal Avoca in the South to Nelson Bay in the north. The Singleton Club is 40 minutes drive west of Newcastle.

It was formed at the end of the 1999 season with a combination of clubs from the Central Coast and Newcastle Football Leagues.

The league comprises 10 clubs. In 2011 it will comprise nine in First Grade, ten in Reserve Grade and ten in the Under 18 competition. These numbers vary from year to year depending on the strength of the respective clubs.

Six of the clubs are Hunter based whilst another four are on the Central Coast. The most northern club in the league is Nelson Bay, Singleton is the most Western and the most southern is Terrigal Avoca.

Not all clubs field three grades but the league has given those clubs which don't, a time frame in which to work towards a full complement.

The initial premier in the League was the Terrigal-Avoca Panthers in 2000 then West Newcastle Wallsend Demons in 2001, Cardiff Hawks in 2002, Newcastle City Blues in 2003 and the Hawks again in 2004, 2005 & 2006, Killarney Vale in 2007 and Newcastle City in 2008-9-10.

The premiership trophy in the league is the Black Diamond Cup which was first played for in 1888 and won by the Wallsend Club. The trophy is said to be the oldest Australian sporting trophy still being contested even outdates cricket's Sheffield Shield and is housed in the Newcastle Museum.

The League has an Umpires Association and both the Central Coast and Newcastle have junior competitions. This group forms a region which in total fields 83 teams comprised of over 2,000 registered players.

The BDAFL is administered by an independent Board of Management who oversee all aspects of the competition.

The day to day activities are managed by a part time general manager. It is one of the league's goals to have this position revert to full time.
